At times, several generations work under bondage for the repayment of a paltry sum which has been taken by some remote ancestor. The Interest rates are exorbitant and such bondage cannot be interpreted as the result of any legitimate contract or agreement. The system implies the infringement of the basic human rights and destruction of the dignity of human labour.

2. Article 23(1) of the Constitution prohibits 'begar' and other similar forms of forced labour and further provided that any contravention for the said prohibition shall be an offence punishable in accordance with law. Article 35 (a) (ii) of the Constitution not only confers the power on Parliament to provide for punishment for the contravention of the said provisions of Article 23(1) by expressly takes away the power of the State Legislature to make any legislation with regard to the said matter. Accordingly, the Bounded Labour System (Abolition) Ordinance, 1975, was promulgated by the President on the 24th October, 1975. By the Said ordinance the bonded labour system was abolished and the bonded labourers were freed and discharged from any obligation to render any bonded labour and their bonded debts were also extinguished. The Ordinance further affords protection to the free bonded labours from eviction from their homestead. Contraventions of the provisions of the Ordinance have been made offences punishable in accordance with law.
